HINTS TO Women Readers

DARK BLUE SILK FROCK.

A fashionable shop is showing the above model as one of its choice designs for spring. It was made of two kinds of silk, one plain dark blue, the other in the same shade, but dotted in white. This combination was very effective, especially as the figures were cleverly disposed to give the effect of circles of dots around skirt and bodice. The front of the bodice, which closed diagonally with a row of small white buttons, was of plain material, as were the cuffs and lower portion of the skirt.

DRY SHAMPOOS MAKE HAIR LIGHT, FLUFFY AND CLEAN

Dry shampooing is excellent for the scalp. For in this way dust is removed, and as a rule the hair is made fluffier and lighter. But when a woman takes to shaking in a dry cleansing agent in powder form it is time for her to take care lest, in trying to cleanse, she only make her head more dusty. No powder or other dry stuff, and all are powdery in greater or less degree, is to be put on the scalp. Should this happen the pores immediately become clogged, and only the most thorough washing will cleanse the head. Even when washing there is danger of a paste being formed by the addition of water to the application, and then to remove it a vigorous scrubbing is required.

No powder should go nearer than half an inch from the scalp. But I do not believe brushing will usually answer every purpose, and there will not be the difficulty of removing extraneous matter.

At the same time there is no objection to powders when they are confined to the hair only.

If a woman feels her head is in better condition for the use of a dry application to which natural grease will adhere, I think cornmeal is the best agent, for the reason that it is too coarse to sift through the hair to the scalp, or to remain should it settle there during the work.

Now a soft powder may cling closely to the skin, and the person putting it on will not be aware of it. If cornmeal is used it may be performed, by putting an ounce of ground, not powdered, orris root to a pound of the meal, letting the mixture stand for two or three days before using. If dry shampooing is customary, the mixture should be kept prepared in a tightly covered glass jar.

No dry shampoo, whether with or without a powder, can be successfully done with a short bristle brush. The bristles must be long, so they will penetrate the locks and reach the scalp. To do this the hair must be parted at frequent intervals, and only a small strand separated at one time.

To remove the powder that has been dropped into the partings thus made, the tips of the bristles must first rest on the scalp and then be drawn down through the length of the locks, repeating the stroke several times on each part.

It is not possible for a person to give herself this treatment, for the work requires close attention.

Good Recipes.

Thick Potato Soup.

Boil as many potatoes as desired until soft enough to go through a sieve. Use the water they were boiled in. Add milk, butter, salt and pepper to season.

Thick Pea Soup.

Soak the dried peas over night, then cook the same as the potatoes, but add plenty of onions to flavor the peas. Carrot soup can be made in the same way.

Creamed Potatoes With Cheese.

Make a good white sauce, using two tablespoonfuls of flour, a tablespoonful of butter, salt and pepper to season and a cupful of milk. Cut the potatoes in slices and bake in a layer of potatoes in a buttered baking dish, then a layer of white sauce, followed with a layer of grated cheese, thus alternating until the dish is full. Bake about twenty minutes and serve hot.

Vegetable Hash.

Boil together until tender potatoes, carrots and onions; then serve with butter, pepper and salt.

Dutch Salad.

Use as a foundation for this either herring or anchovies, mixing the same with sliced beets, apples, cold potatoes, onions, hard-boiled eggs and either mayonnaise or a plain French dressing.

Another good salad is made from prawns or shrimps with lettuce, hard-boiled eggs and French dressing.

EMMA PADDOCK TELFORD.

Comfortable Friends.

We must be comfortable friends, not teasing, not burdensome.

If it be hard for a married woman to be a good friend, it is still harder to be a good friend of a married woman. Yet, however devoted her husband may be, she needs one. No one but a woman can understand a woman's troubles—small and great; but she should be an ever-guard even with her most intimate friend—yet patiently endured by the husband, who feels himself outside all confidence immediately she appears.

How often have the seeds of ill content, unfounded suspicions, deceptions and misconceptions been sown by the intimate friend!

How easily could the first ruffled feelings have been smoothed, and the first dispute settled, had she not been present with her well meant interference!

The right friend is anxious never to be in a false position. She is content to take the lower place, and would be distressed were it otherwise.

She can be loving without gushing; helpful, but not officious; ready, but never in the way.

She can be encouraging, and yet not flatter; counsel, yet not "advise"; hear everything, and be discreetly silent. She bears absence without complaint, and apparent forgetfulness without suspicion. She never looks for explanations, and she is loyal without saying anything at all about it. But such a woman has to be lived up to, for she expects the same high-handedness in you also.—From "Marrying and the Married."

Fads for Women.

In folding clothes for ironing each article should always be folded lengthwise, and the reason they should be so folded is because the thread that runs in that direction is always strongest. These threads go around the loom, while the wool, which goes to and fro over and under the long threads, is not so strong, so that ironing crosswise will not only draw the article out of shape, but will cause it to wear more quickly.

This is especially true of table and bed linens.

A dainty model in corset cover and petticoat that covers the stoutest figure would not hesitate to wear is made in a combination of the empire and princess styles.

A low neck yoke fits the shoulders smoothly and ends just below the top of the corset. This is of all-over embroidery edged at neck and armholes with a narrow beading threaded with ribbon. From the yoke down over the hips the garment fits the figure in princess effect. Then it flares, and the lower edge is trimmed with a frill. A beading conceals join of yoke and lower portion. Two and three-quarter inches of material are needed for this garment, and for the decoration one yard of all-over embroidery will be necessary.

Persons born between March 21 and April 10 are said to be born under the head sign of the fire triplexity, and the governing planets are Mars and Neptune, so the stones they should wear are amethysts and diamonds.

This period of time is said to be a fortunate one for persons born between the dates mentioned above, for undertaking any new venture, traveling or the making of new friends.

The chanceler stationery is decidedly prettier than some of the millinery named after this famous play.

The correspondence cards with envelopes to match are especially charming. The tone of the paper is of a rich cream, like the tint of a pale brown egg, gilt edged borders in the right hand corner. The flaps of the envelopes have scarlet rosettes.

Quaint evening hoods are enjoying a deserved vogue. Some of the models are decidedly pretty and becoming.

Slippers of brocades in the deep copper, old gold and peculiar reddish shades will be popular for evening wear.

Silk scarfs weighted with fringe are very pretty and are draped on Panama hats with very smart results.

Crepe ena is a material with a subdued satiny luster which is delightfully pliable and is yet of a fine light weave.

Metallic ribbons are with us in gorgeous array, and the latest among them is a refreshing green with silver edges.

On evening gowns fringes of jet or tubular beads are placed upon the bodice of the skirt, much as fountains of lace are made.

In green, blue and white a piece of printed chameleon foulard is one of the expressions of the season's changeable silks.

Round length dresses for afternoon and evening are entirely too comfortable to be on the wane. More than ever are they seen in both simple style for the street and elaborate form for the dance.

Obligations and their Fulfillment

"Two bed-rock principles which fit the conditions under which public service corporations do their business."

"The Company is granted certain privileges by the public for the purpose of enabling it to furnish readily a satisfactory telephone service to the people, and it must furnish a service fitting the needs of the people; each class of service good of its kind and at rates which are reasonable. * * *

"The Company must not be unnecessarily harassed, but must be afforded every reasonable opportunity for economically transacting the business rightfully related to giving the service for which the company was organized; and it must be allowed to make such clear profits over all legitimate costs of its service that it may attract the best and fairest minds to the management, and maintain a position of stable credit with the investing public."

From an article written by Professor Dugald G. Jackson, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology

The Telephone Company's purpose is to fulfill, to the fullest extent, its obligations in Washington

In a large city, a continuous service must be given—every hour of the day. Each day brings its own happenings which vary the amount and kind of traffic. Many calls are of utmost importance to the sender or receiver; many are of little consequence, but every call must be handled at any hour of the day or night by the telephone company.

An "always on duty" service is given in Washington.

Service as low as $2.50 a month is given to both business and residence subscribers. Rates are reduced as often as business safety permits. So excellent a plant and so high grade a service require a return on the investment that will fully insure their up-keep.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is no "cure-all" humbug, but is made for just one purpose—to cure the weaknesses, painful disorders and irregularities of the womanly organism. It is

THE ONE REMEDY for these ailments, sold by druggists, devised and gotten up by a regularly graduated physician of vast experience in treating woman's peculiar diseases and is carefully adapted to work in harmony with her delicate organization, by an experienced and skilled specialist in her maladies. THE ONE REMEDY for woman's ailments, sold by druggists, which contains neither alcohol (which to most women is the rankest poison) or other injurious or habit-forming drugs.

THE ONE REMEDY for women, the composition of which is so perfect and good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient, in plain English on its outside bottle-wrapper, and attest the correctness of the same under oath—thus taking its users into their full confidence, and warranting physicians in prescribing it in their worst cases, which they do very largely.

It is foolish as well as dangerous to take medicine the composition of which you know nothing. Therefore, don't let a dishonest druggist prevail on you to accept a secret nostrum for this professionally approved medicine OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. Every ingredient in its make-up has the strongest indorsement of the leading medical men of all the several schools of practice. Send postal card request for free Booklet of same.

Every woman may write fully and confidentially to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and may be sure that her case will receive careful, conscientious, confidential consideration, and that the best medical advice in the world will be given to her, absolutely free.

In addition to this free advice Dr. Pierce will send a fine French cloth-bound copy of his great 1,000-page book, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser," to any woman who will send 31 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of mailing only.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. They work in harmony with "Favorite Prescription" when needed as a gentle laxative. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

READY FOR HORSE SHOW

PLANS FOR POTOMAC PARK CARNIVAL SATURDAY NIGHT.

Open-Air Events of Riders and Drivers' Association—Large List of Entries.

All is in readiness for the horse show and carnival in Potomac Park Saturday afternoon, save perhaps a bit more work on the ring and inclosures. The large list of entries, with the events, as well as the time of each, have been already announced.

Personal invitations to the open-air events of the Riders and Drivers' Association, including the horse show and carnival at Potomac Park Saturday afternoon, are not considered necessary by the association. Everybody is welcome and every possible arrangement for the comfort of spectators has been made. President P. V. De Graw of the association informed a Star reporter today. It was estimated that more than twenty thousand spectators attended the show and carnival last December. It is confidently believed, with the improved weather, the attendance Saturday afternoon will far exceed that number.

Plans for Spectators.

Many parties have indicated their intention of spending the afternoon on the grounds and to entertain their guests in the open air or in their cars or carriages during the three-hour program. The general entrance for automobiles and carriages will be at 23d and B streets northwest. Officers will be stationed at convenient points to carefully rendezvous vehicles so that all may be given the best possible view.

Proper reservations will be made for the cars and carriages of the President, members of his cabinet, members of the diplomatic corps and other distinguished persons who indicate their desire to be present.

More than a dozen ladies will take part in the horse show. Some of these will ride in the jumping classes.

Miss Townsend, who so successfully competed in the carnival given last December, has four entries for this year's event.

Cabinet Officers to Take Part.

At least two cabinet officers will take part in the hunting classes, and the stables of Larz Anderson, Clarence Moore and others, numbering several contestants each, will be represented.

President De Graw has received a letter from E. T. Stotesbury of Philadelphia, who, it was hoped, would be associated with Senator Bailey of Texas in judging the rooster class, expressing regret at his inability to be present Saturday and hoping the show and carnival would be a great success.

Mr. Stotesbury is said to be an established authority on light harness qualifications. He owns one of the finest roadsters in the country.

EXPLAINS HIS RESIGNATION.

Henry M. Hoyt Says He Retires Solely for Private Reasons.

Henry M. Hoyt, who recently resigned the office of attorney general of Porto Rico, is apprehensive that his action will be attributed to the fact that he was a witness in the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation, where he supported the statements of Glavis to some extent. So he has telegraphed to Washington from New York that his resignation was caused solely by his desire to resume private practice in San Francisco, and that the relations between himself and Attorney General Wickersham are entirely agreeable.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR FRANK W. HART

Engineering Work in the Canal Zone Testified to His Skill. Seven Years in the Navy.

Funeral services for Franklin Wilson Hart, son of Capt. Abraham Hart, took place at the undertaking establishment of Joseph Gawler & Sons this morning at 10 o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Simon and Rev. Dr. Stern. Among those who attended were representatives of St. John's Lodge, No. 11, F. A. A. M., and Mount Vernon Chapter, No. 3, R. A. C., of which bodies Mr. Hart was a member.

Frank Hart was born in this city thirty-seven years ago. He attended the public schools, graduating from the high school in 1890. He studied civil engineering at the Columbian University. He entered the service of the District government in 1891.

At the outbreak of the war with Spain he was assistant engineer in the department of highways. He resigned to accept a commission from President McKinley as paymaster in the navy. After seven years' service he resigned to take up his chosen profession again. In 1908 he entered the engineering service of the Panama canal commission. His principal work was the laying out and superintending the construction of streets, planning and building systems of drainage and reservoirs in the Canal Zone. The result of his work at Cristobal, Gatun and other points gave testimony to his skill. Mr. Hart combined with his high mental attainments a pleasing personality, which won many friends.

Man 110 Survives Rattler Bite.

NATCHEZ, Miss., April 27.—Ed. Keaton, one hundred and ten years old, who lives near this city, declares that he is determined to die a natural death. Last night Keaton was bitten by a rattlesnake, but the doctors say he will get well.
